New AG on the Block: Hawaii Attorney General Anne Lopez

By Troutman Pepper State Attorneys General Team on December 29, 2022
POSTED IN STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL

At Hawaii Governor Josh Green's recommendation, health care executive Anne Lopez (D) assumed the role of the state's next attorney general on December 5. AG Lopez succeeds Acting AG Holly Shikada and will serve a five-year term, ending in 2026.

Before her AG appointment, AG Lopez served as CEO and general counsel for Hawaii Health Systems Corporation (2015-2022), as a special assistant to former Hawaii AG David Louie (2013-2015), and as an attorney for Chun Kerr Dodd Beaman & Wong (2004-2012). She earned her J.D. from the University of Hawaii, William S. Richardson School of Law (summa cum laude) and her B.S. from San Jose State University.

As part of the governor's core leadership team, AG Lopez plans to leverage her professional experience and education to tackle two critical issues in the Green administration's developing agenda — access to health care and affordable housing. AG Lopez told the Honolulu Star-Advertiser: "I want to serve [the Hawaii AG office] and ensure it enforces the laws of the state, is transparent in all of its work, and the residents of Hawaii benefit from our commitment and our commitment to public service."

Why This Matters

AG Lopez says she will continue Hawaii's tradition to effectively confront the state's legal challenges with the necessary experience, values, and passion to promote the best interest of Hawaii and its citizens.

New Jersey AG Lauds NJDCA's Sixth Consumer Protection Settlement With Car Dealerships

By Troutman Pepper State Attorneys General Team on December 22, 2022
POSTED IN STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL

Since July 2022, the New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs (NJDCAs) secured six settlements — totaling over $260,000 — with six different New Jersey car dealerships for allegedly violating consumer protection laws by:

- Not listing vehicles' prior accidents, damage, and repairs;
- Not honoring a used car's advertised price;
- Charging excessive vehicle preparation fees not itemized or properly disclosed to the consumer;
- Not providing written warranties;
- Not disclosing a vehicle's full sale price; and
- Engaging in deceptive advertising.

Under the settlements, the dealerships agreed to pay civil monetary penalties, fees, and costs; cease all unfair or deceptive acts or practices; comply with all applicable state and federal laws; and resolve all consumer complaints. "Consumers have enough to worry about in this challenging car market, and illegal practices by car dealerships should not be one of them," said New Jersey Attorney General Matthew Platkin. "These settlements should put dealers on notice that we will not stop protecting New Jerseyans and are always working to ensure a transparent auto market."

Why This Matters

With the current shortage of new and used cars, these settlements will help protect consumers against fraud, deceptive advertising, misrepresentations, and legal and regulatory violations, while also thwarting post-pandemic exploitations. It further highlights that state AGs remain focused on combating predatory sales tactics.

Brochures

- Copywriting: Researched, analyzed, and wrote original brochure content across multiple practice areas and industries. Determined key firm / practice differentiators to achieve firm goals and position firm attorneys as thought leaders.
- Project Management: Collaborated with SME attorneys, project leaders and graphic designers during the editing and production process.

Comau Group saves time and money using UPS CrossBorder Connect™

A worldwide leader in sustainable automation and service solutions, Comau Group navigates the intricacies and challenges of cross-border trade on an almost daily basis. Even with four decades of experience developing advanced manufacturing systems, Comau continuously looks at ways to streamline every aspect of its operations, including supply chain and logistics processes. When Gustavo Ramos, Import & Export Coordinator of Comau's robotic assembly facility in Mexico City, was looking for a cost-effective solution that would decrease the transit time of cross-border LTL shipments from Detroit to Mexico City, it became an early user of a new UPS freight forwarding solution called UPS CrossBorder Connect.

Designed to accelerate U.S.-Mexico trade, UPS CrossBorder Connect is a ground freight service that bundles UPS's transportation and customs brokerage expertise north and south of the border to boost speed to market, drive cost efficiencies and reduce supply chain risk. For Comau, the service has now become the go-to solution for expedited service to its Mexico City hub facility.

A Borderless Business

Abbreviated from the Italian Consorzio Macchine Utensili, Comau Group operates as a division of FIAT, bringing a strong history in the automotive industry and extensive global ties. With headquarters in Turin, Italy, Comau has 24 locations in 13

CHALLENGE

Comau seeks more efficient, cost-effective solution for LTL (less-than-truckload) shipments facing complex customs regulations at the U.S./Mexico border.

SOLUTION

Use UPS CrossBorder Connect ground freight service, which bundles transportation and customs brokerage expertise north and south of the border.

RESULTS

Comau increases the speed of its cross-border shipments without impacting their bottom line.

Case Study Celebrating Home

Challenges

- Needed to ship new product samples from 15 to 20 different Asian manufacturers to distribution warehouse in Marshall, Texas, for Celebrating Home's annual sales rally in Dallas
 - Ultimately wanted to determine better methods for shipping time-sensitive (but non-urgent) items to market faster to meet its nine-day customer delivery guarantee
- Entailed shipping smaller quantities (not full containers) under tighter timelines
- Required a shipping option faster than traditional ocean freight but more affordable than air freight

Case Study Celebrating Home

Solutions

- Utilized UPS Preferred® LCL service — UPS's North American ground network with containerized ocean services — to provide up to 40 percent faster port-to-door overseas delivery than standard UPS LCL service
 - Offered services for multiple lanes in South China
- Incorporated UPS Flex® Global View to increase customer goods' visibility as they moved through the supply chain

Results

- Increased supply chain options and added flexibility across customer's supply chain for shipments requiring speed not urgency
 - Improved transit times, saving approximately seven to nine shipping days over traditional ocean freight shipping
 - Met customer's deadline for obtaining new products
- Avoided 50 to 75 percent higher air freight movement costs
- Helped reduce product damages by eliminating deconsolidation steps at U.S. ports

Energy Team Closes Third Ever Renewable Chemicals Project Worth $56 Million

On November 29, 2017, Kilpatrick Townsend closed a historic $56 million renewable chemical project, including $24 million senior debt guaranteed by the USDA Business & Industry (B&I) Loan Guarantee Program, for our bondholder client, an institutional investor and lender. The closing represents the third ever project financing of a renewable chemical transaction in the past seven years — all using the USDA B&I Loan Guarantee Program and all involving Kilpatrick Townsend's counsel — signifying a monumental milestone in the renewable chemical industry.

The Nebraska-based project is part of the existing Archer Daniels Midland corn ethanol production facility — the first commercial technology to produce corn ethanol-based ethyl acetate — and will be owned and operated by Prairie Catalytic LLC. It's one of the few credit enhanced project company debt deals that used a AAA-credit rated federal loan guarantee to wrap otherwise non-investment grade project company debt. As such, this guarantee enhances the credit rating on the overall project company's debt, resulting in a lower coupon rate and longer maturity through bond financing as compared to the equivalent terms obtained through a commercial loan. These credit-enhanced bonds are sold to institutional investors, with the proceeds subsequently placed into the project. Kilpatrick Townsend Partner Mark Riedy co-developed this unique financing mechanism in 2009 with Stern Brothers and its counsel Faegre Baker Daniels (which also participated in the Prairie Catalytic closing) to help close the most difficult project financings for all types of new technology projects in the chemical, energy, and infrastructure industries.

Kilpatrick Townsend Partner Mark Riedy led a collaborative, multidisciplinary team of attorneys consisting of Partners David Stockton, David Eaton, Joe Scibilia, and Justin Krieger, Senior Associate Isabelle Dinerman, and Special Legal Consultant Ariel Oseasohn to successfully represent our client.

Kilpatrick Townsend Closes $207 Million Acquisition for AT&T

Kilpatrick Townsend, led by Partner Joel Cartee, recently completed a $207 million purchase of FiberTower Corporation for client AT&T, which will position it as the first U.S. company to introduce 5G wireless — the next generation of mobile wireless — in a dozen markets by late 2018. The multiyear deal spanned across multiple offices and practice areas, and will provide AT&T with a nationwide millimeter wave spectrum portfolio of 39 GHz wireless licenses needed to support virtual and augmented reality, telemedicine, autonomous cars, smart cities, and similar mobile technologies.

The transaction began in September 2016 with extensive negotiations, further complicated by compliance issues between FiberTower and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). In January 2017, AT&T struck a deal with FiberTower's shareholders to buy the company, kicking off another year of complex negotiations with the FCC and the Department of Justice (DOJ) to resolve outstanding licensing and bankruptcy issues. A year later, all FCC-DOJ regulatory issues were successfully settled, paving the way to closing the acquisition.

With the spectrum's potential value expected to be significantly greater than its purchase price, AT&T considers the acquisition of FiberTower both a financial and strategic success. Now, it can realize its goal to be the first U.S. company to deliver 5G wireless to its customers, while continuing to position itself as a top brand for mobile wireless.

To successfully represent our client, Kilpatrick Townsend Partner Joel Cartee and Senior Associate Brittany Summers led a cross-office, multidisciplinary team of attorneys consisting of Partners Lynn Fowler, Allen Garrett, Alisha Gibson, Steve Hudson, Sarah Jurkiewicz, Mike Pavento, David Posner, and Jennifer Schumacher; Associates Edgar Callaway, Gianfranco Finizio, Jeff Fisher, Phillip Harris, Isabelle Dinerman, Kelsey Donnalley, Josh Hess, Hannah Loo, Sara Fon Miller, Hillary Rightler, Bobby Seifert, and Elizabeth Spivey; and Counsel Katie Barton, Jeff Reed, and Chuck Rice.

Triumph Sales Team: Six (6) team members
Website: www.marinspeedshop.com
Triumph Dealer Since: September 2003
Awards: Ton-Up Award (2014, 2013, 2008, 2007, 2006, 2005)

Congratulations to Marin Triumph for selling more than 100 motorcycles in 2014!

At Marin Triumph, they don't worry about the competition, they focus on what they do best — satisfying the customer. And with customer satisfaction comes success. As a six-time Ton-Up Award winner, Marin validates the importance of picking the right crew, 20-Club membership, exceptional business acumen, and creating a boutique experience not found at the dealership next door.

With the help of Triumph Sales team members Nikki Dore (Sales), Jim McLaughlin (General Manager), Dave Pearson (Sales / Triumph Champion), Quinn 'The Shroud' Pederson (Sales / Service), Aaron Prentice (Finance Manager), and Ben Rubio (Service Manager), Owner Greg McCord understands the importance of leveraging best business practices and industry standards. Through 20-Club participation, Marin learned to successfully maximize its backend profits, creating some of the highest profit margins of any reporting Triumph dealer in the network.

Marin also capitalizes on its individuality via unique bike customizations, a mix of motorcycle and mainstream décor, and a myriad of marketing strategies (social media, newsletters, events, etc.). In 2014, Marin organized several group rides that attracted more than 200+ riders, and most recently teamed up with Triumph, Lucky brand, and local coffee roaster Equator Coffee to host Dia de Los Motos: A Day of Motorcycles, Coffee, and Camaraderie. To further stand out, Marin offers complimentary pickup and delivery service, maintenance pickups, and roadside service within a specified mile radius.

According to General Manager Jim McLaughlin, "At Marin, we take pride in delivering customer service that exceeds expectations. As a "destination" dealership located 25 minutes north of San Francisco, Marin customers often take their inaugural Triumph ride over the Golden Gate Bridge — how's that for customer satisfaction!"

March 2015: In The News
03.13.2015

The Lisbon-based Maria Riding Company did it again! Its latest commission — a 2005 Bonneville T100 called the Spitfire — dons "a military theme, but without the whole matt Nato green thing." According to The Bike Shed, the WWII "RAF Supermarine Spitfire fighter plane supplied most of the inspiration for the color scheme, whilst the remainder of the project followed founder and head mechanic Luis Correia's tried and tested formula." To create this "new urban weapon," Maria chopped the subframe to accommodate a new, handmade seat that rises to meet the gas tank, and installed an LSL ignition relocation switch kit to make the most of a smaller headlight and neater dash set up. It also incorporated rebuilt wheels with stainless steel spokes and dark green powdered rims; a new Arrow 2-into-1 stainless exhaust system; new TKC80 tires; vintage-styled Posh grips; and LSL bars and sprocket cover. Photo courtesy of Maria Riding Company.

Triumph serves as a muse to many folks both on and off the road. Leroy Mize, 73, built a replica of his 1965 650cc Triumph Bonneville out of oak and walnut, spending more than 1,000 hours machining and hand carving each motorcycle piece to his satisfaction. Mize told Lawrence Journal-World that "the biggest challenge and most time-consuming part of the project has been whittling the tread on the motorcycle's tires." To learn more, watch Mize's YouTube video Leroy Mize's Wooden 1965 Triumph Motorcycle. Photo courtesy of the Lawrence Journal-World and Photographer Richard Gwin.

Across the pond, French illustrator Sophie Varela found inspiration from the Triumph Bonneville when creating realistic drawings of motorcycles by combining fine details in pen with awesome watercolor shading and coloring. According to MotoLady, "Varela's motorcycle illustrations are badass and elegant at the same time." Photo courtesy of Sophie Valera.

Have a nice weekend!

Dear [NAME],

As a valued UPS customer, I want to make you aware of a change in our shipping systems and several alternative shipping options included in our expanding portfolio of services. Beginning December 31, UPS shipping systems including WorldShip[®], UPS CampusShip[®] and UPS Internet Shipping will no longer support the UPS Express[®] Freight service.

Since this change may affect your internal processes, UPS wants to make sure that you have sufficient time to prepare and implement any changes necessary to keep your shipping procedures running smoothly.

To help ensure an easy transition, UPS offers three options to meet your critical air freight needs.

- UPS Worldwide Express FreightSM – Our newest and fastest international freight service offers guaranteed door-to-door delivery for palletized shipments over 150 pounds using your current shipping system. By leveraging UPS's aircraft network, transit times range from one to three business days to key global markets in 37 origin and 41 destination countries. This service provides our customers with the UPS small package experience for both their small package and international air freight shipments — one point of contact, one contract, one invoice and one tracking system.
- Continue Using UPS Express Freight – You can continue using UPS Express Freight — with its guaranteed, one to three day door-to-door service — by using one of the following processes:
 - Process your shipments using the Gemini shipping system or using the MyFreight online shipping system at www.ups.com
 - Process your shipment manually via a paper air waybill
 - Contact your local service center or the UPS customer service center for each shipment
- UPS Air Freight Direct[®] – Part of the UPS Global Freight Forwarding International Air Freight portfolio, this service offers airport-to-airport delivery with day-specific scheduling in one to three business days worldwide. Pickup, delivery and customs clearance options are available for an additional charge. This option allows you to continue using your current shipping system.

To learn more about this change and to help with the transition, I encourage you to contact your UPS Account Representative, your local service center or the UPS Global Freight Forwarding Customer Service Center at 1-800-443-6379.

Thank you for your business and for entrusting UPS with your critical air freight needs.

Sincerely,
[NAME]

To help firm members learn how to better leverage social networking sites (SNS), the Atlanta Library staff held standing room only mini sessions about Facebook, LinkedIn, and Twitter — three of the most popular SNSs. Joelle Coachman and Sansanee Sermprungsak provided attendees with Web site tours, explaining site-specific functionality and tools as well as current usage by attorneys and law firms. SNSs are used to build communities, people online to enhance existing relationships (personal and professional) and to generate new relationships. Law firms and attorneys are using SNSs to find and/or learn more about clients, opposing parties, witnesses, and hires as well as raise attorney/firm profiles; join alumni, industry, and other professional groups; and drive new business.

According to Joelle, "Now that online social networking has hit the mainstream, lawyers need to be up-to-date on benefits and pitfalls. If used carefully, SNSs can be a great tool to enhance relationships with clients, and they have the potential to generate new business."

facebook (63+ million users)

Although primarily socially oriented, Facebook offers law firms a valuable PR/marketing platform. Since 2008, MLA has maintained a Summer Associate Facebook page to better acclimate the group to the firm before their arrival and to help them create connections regardless of their office locale. Today, MLA has more than 170 Facebook listings, providing users the opportunity to further enhance their relationships as well as reconnect with MLA alumni and clients.

LinkedIn (40+ million users)

LinkedIn is primarily used for professional networking, and allows users to maintain a list of contact details of people they know and trust in business. LinkedIn provides an avenue to enhance existing relationships and to expand network to garner new business opportunities. In addition to locating and ascertaining more information about businesses and people, LinkedIn users can also establish new business relations by joining alumni, industry, and other professional groups. Currently, MLA uses LinkedIn to locate and learn more about current and prospective clients and individuals of interests.

twitter (close to 10 million active users)

While Facebook and LinkedIn create more value from existing relationships, Twitter, for the most part, helps to create new relationships. Twitter (a social networking and micro-blogging service) enables its users to send/read short tweets (140 characters or less) to/from other users who have subscribed to them (known as followers). Twitter can follow breaking news, provide product/service information, promote news (victories, awards, pro bono and community activities, etc.) and events, and just monitor the current buzz. Twitter can also be a great law firm tool. It can help drive new business to your blog, raise your legal profile, and create positive relationships (marked by professional expertise balanced with personal interests) that may lead to both personal and professional opportunities. Currently, MLA clients such as Fresh & Easy, are using Twitter to promote customer service — recently, custom suggestions via Twitter have prompted Fresh & Easy to develop a line of family-sized prepared meals that have become a hit with shoppers.

Firm Provides Pro Bono Counsel for EastWest Institute

Bill Ide (background) listens intently as Stephen Holitz, President of Societal for Brothers Fund, reviews a strategy for furthering Russian relations at a EWI board meeting in London.

Since 2002, the Firm, led by Partner Bill Ide, has acted as the EastWest Institute's (EWI) pro bono General Counsel, overseeing all legal matters. Established in 1980, EWI is an international, non-partisan, non-profit global organization that promotes peace and stability by building trust and collaborative action between significant world forces that must work together. It specializes in bringing together those who usually do not agree or those who are not used to working together on seemingly intractable problems. In the early 1980s, EWI organized the first meetings between the communist military leaders of the Warsaw Pact and the military leaders of NATO countries.

Bill was first introduced to the EWI when he served as Chair of the ABA's Rule of Law Program (CEELI), which helps build legal systems in developing countries. Through CEELI, Bill met EWI Founder and President John Mroz, who eventually recruited Bill as an EWI member and as pro bono counsel. Bill often travels around the world to collaborate with EWI board members, including former presidents of countries, former CEOs of Fortune 100 companies, and leading global intellectuals.

Mr. Mroz said, "We can keep our eye on the ball and do the big heavy lifting in large measure because of the dedication of our board and incredible volunteer force around the world. These men and women help us keep our ship on steady course. Bill Ide is a perfect example. Bill and MLA Partners Russell Love (tax), Dan Beale (employment law compliance), and Allen Green have provided invaluable assistance to EWI, and have attended EWI meetings as a member of the MLA team."

Currently, EWI is facilitating meaningful dialogue between China and the U.S. military and between Russia and the West, having met in Beijing last fall with key Chinese leaders and in Norway and Russia this summer with their top leaders. On October 23, EWI will host former Secretaries of State Dr. Henry Kissinger and George Schultz, former Senator Sam Nunn, who is currently Co-Chairman and CEO of the Nuclear Threat Initiative, and Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Mohammed El-Baradei at the EWI 2008 Awards Dinner and Conference. EWI has offered a complimentary table to the Firm for partners and clients in thanks for what has been contributed in services to the institute.

The Success of the Pizza Autosaucer® ...and the patents that made it possible

by Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton LLP

+ Follow Contact

Automatic Bar Controls, Inc.'s (ABC) Autosaucer® recently made the news again when it was described as "the secret to Costco's delicious pizza."^[1] A rotary pizza sauce dispensing system, the Autosaucer® features a turntable and robotic linear arm that distributes an even and consistent amount of sauce to dough, creating the perfect pizza each and every time. Operating under brand name "Wunder-Bar" and a subsidiary of global foodservice equipment leader The Middleby Corporation, California-based ABC is a leading manufacturer of food and beverage dispensing systems known for its innovation and custom product development.

So what inspired the Autosaucer®? And what steps did ABC take to protect its new invention and brand?

Conceived at 35,000 Feet

It all began more than 15 years ago with a great idea, an airplane trip, and a cocktail napkin. After several of the largest pizza chains approached ABC, now ABC Vice President of Regulatory Affairs Jim Tuyls designed an innovative way to perfectly sauce a pizza, using automation. The quintessential inventor, Tuyls has developed many patented inventions throughout his career at ABC — the Autosaucer® being one of his greatest legacies. Initially drafted in-flight, Tuyls conceived a solution that improves quality and consistency, while increasing profits. "I am very proud of the Autosaucer®," asserts Tuyls. "Not only does it satisfy some of the largest pizza operators' need for a low cost, fast, and efficient pizza-making process, it also represents the high quality and uncompromising customer value synonymous with the

Collaboration, Clients, and Coffee Fuel Kilpatrick's New Office Design in San Francisco

...more collaboration further enhances our client relationships through greater productivity, quality control, consistency, and efficiencies, thus lowering client costs.

Kilpatrick Townsend's strong tradition of collaborating with clients — and with each other — has created a firmwide culture that fosters productivity, innovation, and efficiencies. With that in mind, Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton recently transformed its San Francisco office, the firm's oldest and second largest, from a three-floor traditional law firm setting into a two-floor high-tech, open-space environment to create a more collaborative workplace that reflects the offices of its many technology clients. Working with architect Brian Parker of Cooper Carry, San Francisco Office Managing Partner Mehrnaz Boroumand Smith spearheaded the dramatic glass-inspired design to meet the needs of the office's 70 attorneys and 80 staff members. Mehrnaz explains:

Q: What prompted the office makeover?

Boroumand Smith: With the San Francisco lease up for renewal, we decided to step back and reimagine the 21st century law firm by creating an innovative, flexible space that better suits our collaborative spirit. Putting that collaboration message to work, our first step entailed forming a large, inclusive design committee of staff and attorneys. By facilitating numerous focus group sessions, we harvested diverse viewpoints and feedback central to crafting a future-thinking space that can evolve over time.

MLA GOES BACK TO SCHOOL

Hiring Department Begins Fall Recruitment Process

At MLA, recruiting and hiring top talent is "mission critical" to the success of the firm. Each year, MLA's Hiring department (led by Chief Recruiting & Development Officer Jennifer Queen and Firmwide Hiring & Professional Development Partner Mike Rizzo) starts the on-campus recruitment cycle to strategically identify potential summer associate candidates who could eventually be among our fall associate class. When recruiting, the team looks for accomplished, dedicated, well-rounded, and diverse professionals best suited to MLA's culture and environment and who will continue MLA's tradition of providing high-quality, innovative services.

This year, the firm will conduct on-campus interviews at 15 law schools and two diversity fairs. After completing the interview phase, the Hiring committees will extend offers to the upcoming summer associate class. Once selected, the Hiring department works with various MLA departments to develop a challenging summer program designed to give a realistic picture of practicing law at MLA. While working on a variety of real assignments, summer associates learn about MLA's departmental team structure, gaining a better understanding of the associate work assignment process and an opportunity to work directly with partners. In addition, the Hiring and Professional Development departments coordinate a myriad of training and pro bono/community service opportunities, including the Summer Challenge, writing

More Privacy, Please - April 2022

April 2022

Editor's Note: Utah became the fourth state in the nation to successfully pass a comprehensive privacy bill, following California, Colorado, and Virginia. Meanwhile, seven other states failed at their own attempts, including Florida, Washington, and Indiana. There also has been a flurry of biometric privacy bills largely modeled on Illinois' Biometric Information Privacy Act (BIPA), although none have yet passed. Illinois continues to be a large source of privacy litigation, including a Seventh Circuit affirmation of dismissal due to an arbitration clause in favor of Snap, Inc. On the regulatory side, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) proposed a consent order against CafePress over allegations the company failed to implement reasonable security measures, while self-regulatory industry watchdog the Children's Advertising Review Unit levied a violation of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) against kids app TickTalk Tech LLC. In international updates, the European Union (EU) and the U.S. announced a new trans-Atlantic data privacy framework to effectuate cross-border transfers of personal data that would replace the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield. Norway's data protection regulator urged companies to review data transfers in light of Russia's invasion on Ukraine, and the Irish data protection commission fined Meta Platforms 17 million euros over a series of 12 data breaches.

US Laws and Regulation

- Utah Enacts Privacy Act. Utah became the fourth state to enact a comprehensive state privacy law, closely resembling both the Virginia Consumer Data Protection Act (VCDPA) and the Colorado Privacy Act (CPA). Unlike the VCDPA and the CPA, however, (1) there is no right to correct data, (2) data controllers are not required to implement an appeals process when a consumer request is denied, (3) there is no data protection risk assessment requirement, and (4) consumer consent is not required prior to processing the sensitive data of adult consumers. This act will go into effect on December 31, 2023. For more analysis, click here.
- 2022 State Privacy Legislative Sessions. As of March 22, 11 states wrapped up their 2022 legislative sessions. Of these 11 states, seven states considered privacy legislation, namely Florida, Washington, Indiana, Virginia (amendments to enacted regime), West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Utah. Privacy bills passed out of at least one house in Utah, Florida, Indiana, and Wisconsin. While such signs of potential momentum are noteworthy, the final outcome of these early sessions largely mirrored the results of 2021 legislative sessions, with many bills failing to pass. So far, Utah is the only state to pass a comprehensive privacy bill in 2022. For more information on the 2022 state privacy legislative season, please click here.
- 2022 State Biometric Privacy Laws. In the first quarter of 2022, seven states introduced biometric laws — California, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, and New York — generally based on Illinois' Biometric Privacy Act (BIPA). These new biometrics bills potentially create new avenues on which to sue businesses, and also indicate that state

Like most industries today, Consumer Finance Services businesses continue to be significantly impacted by COVID-19. Federal Activities:

- On May 26, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) confirmed that federal anti-discrimination law requires companies to explain to applicants the specific reasons for denying a credit application or taking other adverse actions, even if the creditor relies on credit models using complex algorithms. The CFPB published a Consumer Financial Protection Circular to remind the public, including those responsible for enforcing federal consumer financial protection law, of creditors' adverse action notice requirements under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. For more information, click here.
- On May 26, the CFPB issued a letter to the six largest credit card lenders, asking why they choose not to include the amount their customers pay each month when furnishing information to the credit reporting agencies, saying that the practice has the potential to suppress consumers' credit scores and prevent consumers from receiving the best possible terms when applying for credit. ILA-USMX Resuming Contract Negotiations

At the urging of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, contract negotiations between the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the United States Maritime Alliance (USMX) will resume on September 19 in hopes of avoiding a shutdown of the U.S. East and Gulf Coast ports from Texas to Maine. Due to the sensitivity of the high-profile dispute, neither the meeting location nor the content will be disclosed.

Despite agreement on two key issues (union jurisdiction and chassis maintenance and repair), talks collapsed on August 22 over USMX-proposed cost-saving technologies and labor practices. USMX Chief Executive Officer James Capo maintains that reforms to archaic labor practices are long overdue and currently cost port operators billions of dollars per year, while ILA President Harold Daggett plans to do whatever it takes to safeguard union practices and ILA membership. The dispute ended with ILA's threat to strike upon the expiration of master labor contracts on September 30. The last full-fledged ILA strike occurred 35 years ago in 1977.

According to an analysis made by the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, a union strike or management lockout would shut down 14 ports, potentially costing the region $136 million a week in personal income and another $110 million in economic output. Mere threats of work stoppage have already led to re-routing of shipments, creating congestion in U.S. West Coast ports. Retail Industry Leaders Association President Sandy Kennedy predicts a strike would devastate the retail industry (and U.S. economy) by forcing retailers to "redirect their supply chain during the crucial period before the holiday shopping season." Without anyone to load and unload ships at union-controlled ports, retailers and supplier cannot plan ahead, creating a major supply chain disruption and potential job loss.

Most recently on September 13, ILA established the Maritime Labor Alliance with five of the country's leading maritime labor organizations, including the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots, Marine Engineer's Beneficial Association, International Longshore and Warehouse Union, American Radio Association and Inland Boatmen's Union. The new alliance vows to vigorously fight to protect jurisdictions, working conditions and labor rights.

If unable to reach an agreement and a strike ensues, President Obama can seek a Taft-Hartley injunction, forcing dockworkers to return to work for an 80-day cooling-off period.

NEW YORK CITY IS... PRO BONO

Kilpatrick Townsend's personnel in the New York City office truly understand the societal importance of performing pro bono work, and how that work can make a substantial and positive difference in giving entities and individuals opportunities that they may not have otherwise. Through Kilpatrick Townsend's award-winning pro bono program, both New York City attorneys and staff actively devote significant time and resources to numerous pro bono projects, having made extraordinary contributions to their community. The following represents a mere sample of their pro bono commitment.

Hague Convention
To date, the firm has filed more than 45 cases under the Hague Convention, while originating a litigant practice manual in 2008. One such case involved representing a Dominican Republic mother in an international child abduction matter at the request of the U.S. State Department. Here, New York City Partner Fred Whitmer led a team of New York City office attorneys to repatriate the infant child after the father took the child to the U.S. for "medical reasons," and then wrongfully detained the child in the Southern District of New York. After petitioning the district court under the Convention's Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction treaty and a year of contentious litigation, the court ordered the child's immediate return to his/her mother in the Dominican Republic.

Special Immigrant Visa
Obtaining a special immigrant visa (SIV) is a long, arduous process, entailing a 14-step application process, multiple interviews, recommendation letters, and numerous forms and documents. For more than two years, New York City Senior Counsel Jonathan Polonsky worked through the international Refugee Assistance Project (IRAP) to secure SIVs for pro bono client Hameed Darweesh — an Iraqi interpreter/interpreter who assisted the U.S. military in dangerous war zones for 10+ years — and his family. Following the President's 2017 executive order broadly restricting refugees and immigrants from seven predominantly Muslim countries, Polonsky, alongside other IRAP volunteers from City University of New York (CUNY) Law School, shifted into high gear to gain Darweesh's quick release after his detention at Kennedy International Airport. The action challenging the executive order received widespread media attention, high client praise, and led the firm to join the American Civil Liberties Union, National Immigration Law Center, IRAP, and Yale Law School's Jerome N. Frank Legal Services Office in obtaining a nationwide injunction before the Eastern District of New York against deporting any immigrants holding SIVs or other valid visas from the seven targeted countries.

Start Small Think Big
Donating pro bono legal services to underserved business communities is a great way to stimulate local economic activity. Through nonprofit Start Small Think Big, the New York City office operates a monthly trademark/copyright clinic, where we provide legal advice and/or representation to low-to-moderate income entrepreneurs and small businesses to help protect their company's intellectual property assets, including brand identity, works of creative expression, software, and trade secrets. Past matters include conducting a trademark search and detailing ways to register design work through trademark and copyright for Hot Line (Partner Mary Lieberstein and Associate Stacy Ding Wortman) and assisting Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Shabazz with trademark registration for The Harlem Pie Man (Partner Barry Benjamin and Of Counsel Lisa Willis).

Unchained All Last
Some pro bono service is an emotional calling for what's right and just. After hearing the story of the abusive arranged marriage suffered by Unchained At Last's founder/executive director, Partners Barry Benjamin and Marc Lieberstein knew they had to get involved. Unchained At Last is the only U.S. nonprofit that provides legal and social services that helps women leave or avoid arranged/forced marriages and rebuild their lives, as well as the only U.S. nonprofit dedicated to creating social, policy, and legal change to end forced and child marriage in America. As of January 31, 2018, New York City attorneys and staff have clocked more than 475 pro bono hours, which includes obtaining a divorce for a woman forced into an arranged marriage following an 18-month negotiation filed with emotional twists and turns. To further support Unchained At Last, Lieberstein recently joined its board of directors, and the New York City office plans to hold a Spring Fashion Pop-up Fundraiser on April 5.

KT IS...CONSTRUCTION Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)

A trillion-plus dollar industry, the U.S. construction business often involves legal disputes primarily caused by choosing the wrong partner; ambiguous, incomplete, or uncoordinated contract documents — at least two-thirds of disputes result from conflicts, omissions, ambiguities, and/or broad generalities; unrealistic risk allocation; lack of trust; and/or failure to resolve problems in real time. With an estimated total cost of $12 billion per year, 80 to 90 percent of construction disputes settle before trial or arbitration, but often very late in the process. These delays increase costs, disrupt business relationships and workflow, create uncertainty, and give less time to resolve the dispute. Thus, resolving disputes early benefits all involved.

Recognized as industry leaders in the prevention and resolution of complex construction disputes, Kilpatrick Townsend's Construction & Infrastructure Practice focuses on real-time dispute mitigation and resolution, and has the resources and experience to bring large, complex matters through litigation or arbitration. Our multilayered dispute resolution approach includes externally contracted non-binding (mediation/facilitated negotiations, DRBs, neutral or expert evaluations, mini-trials) and binding (arbitration, private judges, DRBs, litigation) solutions. With 25 attorneys focused on construction and government contracts law, our team bring decades of ADR experience when representing public and private owners, contractors, OEMs and construction managers, EPC contractors, and design professionals on long-term, multimillion and billion-dollar major industrial and infrastructure projects.

Illustrating the advantage of real-time dispute resolution, the firm recently represented a consortium of international contractors, designers, and OEMs in an ICC arbitration involving the collapse of a hydroelectric tunnel our clients built in Panama two years previously. After the collapse, the power plant owner filed for immediate ICC arbitration, claiming $400 million damages for tunnel repairs and shutdown costs. To help our clients avoid significant litigation costs and substantial risks, our team quickly developed a sound defense. Specifically, we hired the best global experts in tunneling and underground rock behavior, focused on contract provisions limiting damages, and engaged a top construction mediator, who demonstrated each side's strengths and weakness. Consequently, we settled the case at a fraction of the original damage request — our clients' insurance carrier covered all other costs, including attorney's fees — thereby avoiding full arbitration proceedings and saving time, money, and goodwill.

Trade Secrets

Corporate Confidential

In today's highly-competitive global economy, the protection of trade secrets and other confidential know-how — the lifeblood of most businesses — is critical. Whether a technology company or a service provider, confidential information is a key asset that provides a competitive edge. At Kilpatrick Townsend, we develop strategies to prevent and defend against trade secret misappropriation and theft, while preserving the value of the proprietary information. We know when to choose confidentiality protection over patenting, how to create effective business protocols, and how to navigate complex legal proceedings when seeking injunctions or going to trial — all giving our clients the best protection for their crown-jewel assets.

Reach
Global Discretion

Our trade secrets attorneys actively counsel Fortune 500 companies to startups regarding technical and non-technical trade secrets across all industries. We help clients (1) assess and minimize risks; (2) draft and implement employment and third-party contracts, confidentiality and non-disclosure agreements, and corporate policies and best practices; as well as (3) enforce or defend against theft and the misuse of confidential information. We also play key roles in a variety of transactional matters, including licensing, mergers, acquisitions, public offerings, and private equity/venture capital investments, among others.

KILPATRICK TOWNSEND

Appellate Litigation

Set The Record Straight

Successful appellate litigation requires attorneys with specialized skills and unique experience. Kilpatrick Townsend's appellate litigators offer a combination of brief writing expertise, strategic judgment, and oral advocacy that allow clients to defend a hard-won victory or overturn an unfortunate loss in the trial court. Our appellate litigators have briefed and argued cases in the Supreme Court, all 13 U.S. Courts of Appeals, and numerous state supreme and intermediate appellate courts. We also assist trial attorneys with dispositive motions, issue preservation, trial support, jury instructions, and post-trial motions. Our team represents clients who the firm represented at trial, as well as clients who hired us solely to handle their appeal. We handle the full spectrum of legal issues — from constitutional cases to business disputes and class actions to water law and Native American law — including high-stakes cases involving complex issues, which have established new precedents, generated headline news, and garnered national recognition.

KILPATRICK TOWNSEND

Government Relations

Representing Your Voice

Government policy can dramatically affect your bottom line so it's important to make yourself heard. At Kilpatrick Townsend, we work hard to give public and private entities a voice before federal, state, and local governments. To educate elected officials and advocate for our clients, our attorneys leverage their legal skills, political experience, and day-to-day familiarity with legislative and executive branch processes and key decision makers. In doing so, we help clients realize opportunities and overcome obstacles when seeking legislative or policy changes affecting their business strategies and ultimate success.

Reach
Political Savvy

Our attorneys provide comprehensive policy and advocacy advice to national and international individuals, companies, governments, and coalitions on issues with high-stakes consequences. When representing clients before Congress and federal, state, and local agencies, we serve many diverse industries on a wide array of subject matters. To advance our clients' interests, we develop winning advocacy strategies, connect clients with government decision makers at the highest levels, draft and analyze legislation, counsel clients regarding compliance with laws and regulations; and prepare and accompany witnesses for testimony before government committees and in agency hearings and investigations.

Approach
Shaping Policy

Our attorneys — including registered lobbyists — have longstanding relationships with key decision makers and influencers throughout the country and in Washington, D.C. We bring a wealth of collective knowledge and experience in business and government affairs, having held senior government and related positions and appointments at all levels of government, including:

- U.S. Ambassador to the United Nation's Human Rights Commission
- U.S. Ambassador to the Kingdom of Denmark
- Counsel to the Foreign Affairs Committee, U.S. House of Representatives
- Member, U.S. House of Representatives (Georgia Fourth Congressional District)
- Counselor to Chairman & Deputy Chief of Staff, Securities & Exchange Commission
- Counsel to Two U.S. Senators
- Counsel to the Ways & Means Committee, U.S. House of Representatives
- Executive Positions in State/Local Agencies & Departments
